

Dan McGough Maths Student 2015/16

"I have found School Direct training at Willingdon School in partnership with the University of Brighton to be excellent. It has allowed me to train locally and flexibly, providing me with a wide and varied experience on placement. I get to follow the same subject content as the PGCE course, ultimately obtaining the same qualification, at the same time developing strong links with my host school. I would recommend School Direct, particularly at Willingdon School, to anyone thinking of initial teacher training".
